GOV. TENER CONFIDENT THAT UTILITIES BILL WILL PASS

Spends Brief Time at Home-Town and Talks Some of "Big" Legislation

SPEAKS OF GOOD ROADS

Believes Constitutional Amendment for Bond Issue Will be Favored by Both State Bodies

Both the public utilities bill and the constitutional amendment for the issue of $50,000,000 bond for roads are confidently expected by Gov. John K. Tener. Friday night Gov. Tener came to Charleroi for a brief visit. He left at noon today and will be back in Harrisburg Sunday. Next week will be a busy week at the capital.

"There is no question in the world but what the public utilities bill will go through," said the governor. The public service corporations realize that there should be a bill of regulation for them. About all the members of both the house and the senate are committed in favor of the proposed measure."

In speaking of the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue Gov. Tener said that the proposal was much favored. The measure would place Pennsylvania in the very front among the states of the nation, and would place it among the leaders of the world for good highways, he stated.

When asked as to the chances for Washington county along the lines of good roads Gov. Tener said:

"Depend upon it that Washington county will have its share, as it always has had."

In the course of his conversation when seen at the Hotel Arthur Gov. Tener remarked that the legislature had used up about four car loads of paper already with their printing of bills and had two more carload ordered. Some of the bills are printed in duplicate or triplicate form, and there are four or five on the same subject in some cases.

The governor spoke briefly of State Highway Commissioner Bigelow but said it was all an old story about his confirmation and there was nothing new to add to it. Commissioner Bigelow is efficient and the senate stood by him and that was all there was to it.

Gov. Tener came from Sewickley where he attended the funeral of a cousin, Dr. Robert Marcerum.

Glass Plant In Operation

California Factory Will Supply Larkin Soap Company With Bottles

This week Factory C of the Greensboro Glass company at California started operations. The factory is running day and night and employs about 100 men. The output of the factory after it gets to running properly will amount to about two and one-half carloads a week. The Larkin Soap company is to use the entire product, which will be confined to bottles, plain and fancy for toilet waters, perfumes and so forth.

ANXIOUS FOR ITS BUILDING

City of Monongahela Wants Government to Start Work

WILL HAVE TO WAIT

Monongahela people are learning that one of the chief qualities in securing a public building is waiting. The old town managed to work through an appropriation in Congress so long ago that nearly everybody has forgotten the amount, and now is worried about whether or not it is to be avoidable. A letter received from the Treasury department at Washington sets at rest fears on that subject, but affords them little room to hope.

Joseph A. Herron wrote to Congressman Matthews before the latter took leave of his office regarding the location of the building on the corner of Chess and Fourth streets, and the latter turned the letter over to the Treasury Department officials, who wrote as follows:

Washington, March 5, 1913.
Mr. Joseph A. Herron,
Monongahela, Pa.

Sir: "Referring to a letter dated the 20th ultimo, addressed by you to the Honorable Charles Matthews, relative to the public building at Monongahela, Pa., you are advised that buildings are taken up in the order in which the sites are acquired and following this procedure it is expected to place the building in question on the market probably during the fourth quarter, 1914."

Judging from the experience other towns and cities have had, the letter would indicate that Monongahela would get its public building along about 1920.

RUMORED GAS RATE WILL BE INCREASED

Greensboro Gas Company Said to be Considering Advance in Price for Charleroi Consumers of Product

That the gas prices are to be raised in Charleroi by the Greensboro Gas company is a rumor that has reached the ears of a few here. The amount of increase is not stated. Neither is the reason for the supposed rate boosting given.

At the present time Charleroi people are paying 27 cents for every thousand feet of gas, as measured by meter. This price is subject to a reduction of the rate of the bill is paid on or before the tenth of each month. This makes the rate virtually 25 cents because nearly every person makes an effort to pay the bill before the specified date.

Little bit has been made lately as to gas rates, and the service has been as good as could be expected. Gas used in Charleroi is said to practically all come from Fayette county.

BIG DEAL REPORTED LAIRD IS CANDIDATE

J. V. Thompson and Westmoreland County Others Sell Greene County Coal Man Seeking Marshalship Appointment

A deed has been filed for record at Waynesburg by which J. V. Thompson and a number of his associates transfer to the Midland Improvement company 22,723,326 acres of coal and 176,688 acres of surface in Cumberland township, Greene county, embracing 17 tracts. The consideration mentioned in the deed is $100 but it is reported to be $800 per acre or $1,817,914.08. There are forty-two signatures to the deed.

P. J. Bradley and J. J. Koebert, at Waynesburg have closed a big sale of coal with Fayette county parties. They disposed of 490 acres of coal in Wayne and Gilmore townships, Greene county, at a consideration of over $100,000. The names of the purchasers are withheld.

HIS JOB A GOOD ONE IS SAID OF LOCK NO. 4 MAN

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail: Sir—An extract from a letter received at Lock No. 4 from government officials referring to the application of Capt. James Nutt for the position of lockmaster at Lock No. 4 on the Monongahela river, says:

"I wish you would explain to him the following reasons for not giving him the appointment: First, I believe he is more valuable to the United States in his present position, his services being highly commended by his immediate superiors; second, I do not like to promote a man backwards. Capt. Nutt may have his own reasons for the change, but he certainly would be getting less pay as lockmaster than he now gets."

It was stated by one of the officials that a man who could build a lock could certainly run one. Capt. Nutt is in command of the government engineers boat, the "Slackwater."

BOOMING THE TOWN.

As Josh Billings once aptly remarked, which has been quoted by the Mail on similar previous occasions the way to bring up a child is to travel that way yourself. Similarly the way to boom a town is to boom your own business. That is the basis of all material prosperity, and no nation, state or community can be really prosperous if those who compose the state are not prosperous individually. A town of live business men will be a live business town.

General publicity will not make a good business town. There must be individual publicity as well. The statement that a certain town is a good place in which to trade carries little weight unless specific information is given. People want to know, and these days they are used to having such information thrust upon them, until they sense it through the very pores of their being. The live merchant who gives his business continual publicity is creating an indelible buying impression on the public in his direction. It may not come today, tomorrow or next day, but the impression is there and sooner or later results follow. When a want arises the impression as to where it can be satisfied should already be created.

Those who give their own business no publicity are not giving their town any publicity. They are not helping its industrial and commercial progress, nor doing anything to maintain real estate and property values. The result of a non-progressive town is that taxes invariably increase, but business and values remain stationary. The man who adds to his volume of business is booming his town and maintaining property values. When every business man follows the same tactics the community booms itself and the services of the boom doctor are not needed.

IDLE UTILITIES.

Prof. E. E. Bach's statement in his address at the Charleroi Business Men's banquet that our school houses are loafing nearly half the time should receive serious consideration on the part of the people. That our school houses or portions of them should be used evenings and when school is not in session for social and recreative centers is becoming to be clearly recognized, and in many sections they are utilized for that purpose.

Just why school houses, and churches, too, for that matter should be regarded as too sacred for use in promoting the social welfare of humanity is a question that no one can really logically explain. Churches, however, are private property, and can be used as their owners see fit, but school houses are public property and there is no reason why they should not supplement the work of social training for the betterment and the advancement of society. The lack of a suitable meeting place or, to use a popular expression, a place for the people to loaf, is one of the great social problems. It is this deficiency that the saloons and other public resorts to offset which social workers are making futile efforts.

Lately the idea has been evolved that the school houses be used for social meeting places and lighted up and thrown open evenings with proper regulations and restrictions for the use of the people. They are public property and there is no sense of charity or obligation in their use, as is the case when such private meeting places are provided. The school houses belong to the people and there is no reason why they should not be employed in advancing the social welfare of the adult population as well as in giving this preliminary training to the juveniles. Elementary training is not the finality of the social obligations of government.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

At the Palace Theatre the other night when some pictures were being shown in which the Antarctic explorer, Amundsen, figured, one of a group of spectators remarked.

"He's a sour looking guy, to say the least."

"Well, if you'd been in cold storage as long as he has I don't imagine you'd look very pleasant yourself," retorted a companion.

At another improvised social center recently the conduct of a certain individual was under discussion. The person in question held an authoritative corporate position and in the group was a young fellow in the employ of that concern.

"Where did that duffer come from anyhow?" one of the party asked.

"I don't know where he came from," replied the subordinate of the individual under discussion, "but I know blamed well where he's going—when he dies."

"I was in a West Virginia town last fall," said a traveling man in a group of story tellers the other evening, "and walking about the town came onto an old fellow sitting on the bridge that ran across a small stream fishing."

"Any luck?" I queried.

"Nary a bite," replied the ancient fisherman.

"Well, if we could only have miracles now as they did in the times of the Saviour, you might get some fish," I replied, to kid the old man.

"Say," he replied, "I never did quite believe that story about the great haul of fish." Then, after a moment's reflection he added:

"I can believe all right the statement that they cast their nets all the night before and didn't get a fish."

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG.
The day of our great realization of our great expectation is almost upon us—for talking motion pictures, the Kinetophone, most wonderful of all the near-miracle inventions of the wizard of Menlo Park, Thomas A. Edison, are to have their initial exhibition in Pittsburgh in the Grand vaudeville show on next Monday afternoon, March 10, and thereafter each afternoon and evening for one week. That the Grand's capacity will be tested as it has never been tested before is a conclusion which one may arrive at without the aid of the gift of prophecy. The pictures are a tremendous success. New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Cleveland, the only cities in which they have been exhibited thus far acclaim them the realization of the country's dream. The selection of subjects is wisely designed not only to entertain but to show the scope and possibilities of this nearest miracle that has come from the laboratory of the world's wonder worker. In the beginning, one sees and hears upon the canvass the perfect illustration of a well-groomed lecturer, explaining with gestures, in well chosen words and keenly intellectual facial expression the technical methods by which Mr. Edison arrived at his invention. The Edison Minstrels, a company of comedians in the conventional "first part" of a regulation minstrel show, will entertain with songs, dances and jokes. Indeed, the entire program is calculated to familiarize you and me with exactly what Mr. Edison has accomplished and at the same time divert us as thoroughly as any troupe of players that ever "trod the boards."

It will supplement, of course, a vaudeville program in the Grand's customary refinement and artistry. Stella Mayhew and Billie Taylor are among the exceptionally interesting players who will come to cheer us up. Miss Mayhew is the cheeriest comedienne on the American stage and she and Mr. Taylor will present the exact specialties in which they scored an emphatic hit in last season's New York Winter Garden production, where they remained for more than an entire year.

The wonder horse, Don Fulano, is to make his local debut and give an exhibition showing that the equine has a mind of his own and an intellect almost as keen as man's. Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, who are among vaudeville's favorite exponents, will enact their new version of "At the News Stand." You will laugh until your sides ache over the fun of the farce, "Fixing the Furnace," in which George Rolland and Company are to appear.

The Boris Fridkin Troupe of Russian Singers and whirlwind dancers, will make their first appearance here by permission of his Imperial Majesty, the Czar. These are but a few of the numerous acts selected at random from Mr. Davis' extraordinary bill, but they serve to show that his program during talking motion picture week will accord in every respect with his well established reputation for high class, refined entertainment.

GOV. TENER CONFIDENT THAT UTILITIES BILL WILL PASS

Spends Brief Time at Home-Town and Talks Some of "Big" Legislation

SPEAKS OF GOOD ROADS

Believes Constitutional Amendment for Bond Issue Will be Favored by Both State Bodies

Both the public utilities bill and the constitutional amendment for the issue of $50,000,000 bond for roads are confidently expected by Gov. John K. Tener. Friday night Gov. Tener came to Charleroi for a brief visit. He left at noon today and will be back in Harrisburg Sunday. Next week will be a busy week at the capital.

"There is no question in the world but what the public utilities bill will go through," said the governor. The public service corporations realize that there should be a bill of regulation for them. About all the members of both the house and the senate are committed in favor of the proposed measure."

In speaking of the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue Gov. Tener said that the proposal was much favored. The measure would place Pennsylvania in the very front among the states of the nation, and would place it among the leaders of the world for good highways, he stated.

When asked as to the chances for Washington county along the lines of good roads Gov. Tener said:

In the course of his conversation when seen at the Hotel Arthur Gov. Tener remarked that the legislature had used up about four car loads of paper already with their printing of bills and had two more carload ordered. Some of the bills are printed in duplicate or triplicate form, and there are four or five on the same subject in some cases.

The governor spoke briefly of State Highway Commissioner Bigelow but said it was all an old story about his confirmation and there was nothing new to add to it. Commissioner Bigelow is efficient and the senate stood by him and that was all there was to it.

Gov. Tener came from Sewickley where he attended the funeral of a cousin, Dr. Robert Marcrum.

ANXIOUS FOR ITS BUILDING

City of Monongahela Wants Government to Start Work

WILL HAVE TO WAIT

Monongahela people are learning that one of the chief qualities in securing a public building is waiting. The old town managed to work through an appropriation in Congress so long ago that nearly everybody has forgotten the amount, and now is worried about whether or not it is to be avoidable. A letter received from the Treasury department at Washington sets at rest the minds on that subject, but affords them little room to hope.

Joseph A. Herron wrote to Congressman Matthews before the latter took leave of his office regarding the location of the building on the corner of Chess and Fourth streets, and the latter turned the letter over to the Treasury Department officials, who wrote as follows:

Washington, March 5, 1913.
Mr. Joseph A. Herron,
Monongahela, Pa.

Sir:

"Referring to a letter dated the 20th ultimo, addressed by you to the Honorable Charles Matthews, relative to the public building at Monongahela, Pa., you are advised that buildings are taken up in the order in which the sites are acquired and following this procedure it is expected to place the building in question on the market probably during the fourth quarter, 1914."

Judging from the experience other towns and cities have had, the letter would indicate that Monongahela would get its public building along about 1920.

RUMORED GAS RATE WILL BE INCREASED

That the gas prices are to be raised in Charleroi by the Greensboro Gas company is a rumor that has reached the ears of a few here. The amount of increase is not stated. Neither is the reason for the supposed rate boosting given.

At the present time Charleroi people are paying 27 cents for every thousand feet of gas, as measured by meter. This price is subject to a reduction of two cents, if the bill is paid on or before the tenth of each month. This makes the rate actually 25 cents because nearly every person makes an effort to pay before the specified date.

There has been much talk as to gas rates, and the service has been good and of the expected. Gas used in Charleroi is said to practically all come from Fayette county.

BIG DEAL REPORTED

J. V. Thompson and Others Sell Greene County Coal

A deed has been filed for record at Waynesburg by which J. V. Thompson and a number of his associates transfer to the Midland Improvement company 22,72,302 2/3 acres of coal and 176,688 1/2 acres of surface in Cumberland township, Greene county, embracing 17 tracts. The consideration mentioned in the deed is $100 but it is reported to be $800 per acre or $1,817,914.08. There are forty-two signatures to the deed.

P. J. Bradley and J. J. Koebert, at Waynesburg have closed a big sale of coal with Fayette county parties. They disposed of 490 acres of coal in Wayne and Gilmore townships, Greene county, at a consideration of over $100,000. The names of the purchasers are withheld.

HIS JOB A GOOD ONE IS SAID OF LOCK NO. 4 MAN

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail: Sir—An extract from a letter received at Lock No. 4 from government officials referring to the application of Capt. James Nutt for the position of lockmaster at Lock No. 4 on the Monongahela river, says:

"I wish you would explain to him the following reasons for not giving him the appointment: First, I believe he is more valuable to the United States in his present position, his services being highly commended by his immediate superiors; second, I do not like to promote a man backwards. Capt Nutt may have his own reasons for the change, but he certainly would be getting less pay as lockmaster than he now gets."

It was stated by one of the officials that a man who could build a lock could certainly run one. Capt. Nutt is in command of the government engineers boat, the "Slackwater."

Big Docks to be Closed as First Stated in Mail by the 1st of April —$10,000,000 Price

DIST TO BUY QUARTLY

This Summer to See Big Development in New Field—Coal and Coke Publication has story

"Activity in Greene county coal lands continues unabated," says the Connellsville Courier, proving correct stories recently published by the Mail. "The several big deals spoken of last week, involving over $10,000,000 are all under way with every prospect of completion within the time limit set, that is by April 1. One of them is reported to be already closed but the details are not complete. Railroad interests are also planning to secure their share of the business and there is a material amount of truth underlying a great deal of rumor concerning railroad construction into and around this new field. It is predicted, however, that this summer will see the dirt fly in Greene county."

The Courier quotes the Pittsburg Coal and Coke Operator, in a recent article which said: "Facts that have been many times cited and arguments that as many times have been urged to elaborate their meaning and significance, are now coming to the fruit-bearing period regarding the splendid coals of Greene county. Time and again in these and other columns has the fact that the Pittsburg steam and gas coals, and the Connellsville coking coals, are being exhausted with a rapidity and to a degree that those to whom the facts should be of concern little appreciated. Recent utterances by experts whose business it is, and whose inclinations lead that way, have summarized these facts in figures and graphic speech, seem to have made a pronounced impression on masters of industry, the result of which is manifested in activity in coal acreage purchases in Greene and Washington counties and in Monongahela, Harrison and Marion townships. W. Va., attracted attention, and many others have taken the cue thus imparted and have also bought large acreages."

"Those of these men who bought these acreages at a low price some years ago are now in position to make handsome returns on their investments, but many of such purchases were not bought for the purposes of sales, but to fortify against the exhaustion of lands already owned and now being operated. It was the prospective exhaustion of its holdings in the Connellsville basin and in the Klondyke field in later years, that prompted the H. C. RALLY OF TEACHERS ENJOYED

Fallowfield Township Meeting at Rodgers School House

LOCAL PEOPLE ASSIST

What was considered a most successful institute was held at the Rodgers school in Fallowfield township Friday night by Fallowfield township teachers. A number of Charleroi people took part in the program, which was particularly good.

Prof. T. L. Pollock, superintendent of the Charleroi schools, Prof. S. R. Grim, principal of the High school and Prof. Walter S. Hatzog, principal of California Normal made the principal addresses. Miss Nellie McNary of Canonsburg, E. B. Ames and Lloyd Minnicks, of Fallowfield gave talks.

The invocation was said by Rev. E. N. Duty of the Charleroi Christian church. Ruth Redd and Miss Jessie Shannon of Fallowfield and Mrs. Dolley Jeffries of Charleroi gave readings. Miss May Barth rendered piano numbers. Miss Ethel Barth and Audrey Michener contributed vocal selections and Darwin Barth rendered a violin solo.

BOOMING THE TOWN.

As Josh Billings once aptly remarked, which has been quoted by the Mail on similar previous occasions the way to bring up a child is to travel that way yourself. Similarly the way to boom a town is to boom your own business. That is the basis of all material prosperity, and no nation, state or community can be really prosperous if those who compose the state are not prosperous individually. A town of live business men will be a live business town.

General publicity will not make a good business town. There must be individual publicity as well. The statement that a certain town is a good place in which to trade carries little weight unless specific information is given. People want to know, and these days they are used to having such information thrust upon them, until they sense it through the very pores of their being. The live merchant who gives his business continual publicity is creating an indelible buying impression on the public in his direction. It may not come today, tomorrow or next day, but the impression is there and sooner or later results follow. When a want arises the impression as to where it can be satisfied should already be created.

Those who give their own business no publicity are not giving their town any publicity. They are not helping its industrial and commercial progress, nor doing anything to maintain real estate and property values. The result of a non-progressive town is that taxes invariably increase, but business and values remain stationary. The man who adds to his volume of business is booming his town and maintaining property values. When every business man follows the same tactics the community booms itself and the services of the boom doctor are not needed.

IDLE UTILITIES.

Prof. E. E. Bach's statement in his address at the Charleroi Business Men's banquet that our school houses are leaning nearly half the time should receive serious consideration on the part of the people. That our school houses or portions of them should be used evenings and when school is not in session for social and recreative centers is becoming to be clearly recognized, and in many sections they are utilized for that purpose.

Just why school houses, and churches, too, for that matter should be regarded as too sacred for use in promoting the social welfare of humanity is a question that no one can really logically explain. Churches, however, are private property, and can be used as their owners see fit, but school houses are public property and there is no reason why they should not supplement the work of social training for the betterment and the advancement of society. The lack of a suitable meeting place or, to use a popular expression, a place for the people to loaf, is one of the great social problems. It is this deficiency that the saloons and other public resorts to offset which social workers are making futile efforts.

Lately the idea has been evolved that the school houses be used for social meeting places and lighted up and thrown open evenings with proper regulations and restrictions for the use of the people. They are public property and there is no sense of charcase when such private meeting places are provided. The school houses belong to the people and there is no reason why they should not be employed in advancing the social welfare of the adult population as well as in giving this preliminary training to the juveniles. Elementary training is not the prerogative of the social obligations of government.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

At the Palace Theatre the other night when some pictures were being shown in which the Antarctic explorer Amundsen, figured, one of a group of spectators remarked

"He's a sour looking guy, to say the least"
"Well, if you'd been in cold storage as long as he has I don't imagine you'd look very pleasant yourself," retorted a companion.

At another improvised social center recently the conduct of a certain individual was under discussion. The person in question held an authoritative corporate position and in the group was a young fellow in the employ of that concern.

"Where did that duffer come from anyhow?" one of the party asked.
"I don't know where he came from," replied the subordinate of the individual under discussion, "but I know blamed well where he's going—when he dies."

"I was in a West Virginia town last fall," said a traveling man in a group of story tellers the other evening, "and walking about the town came onto an old fellow sitting on the bridge that ran across a small stream fishing."

"Any luck?" I queried

"Nary a bite," replied the ancient fisherman

"Well, if we could only have miracles now as they did in the times of the Saviour, you might get some fish. I replied, to kid the old man

"Say," he replied, "I never did quite believe that story about the great haul of fish." Then, after a moment's reflection he added:

"I can believe all right the statement that they cast their nets all the night before and didn't get a fish."

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG.

The day of our great realization of our great expectation is almost upon us—for talking motion pictures, the Kinetophone, most wondrous of all the near-miracle inventions of the wizard of Menlo Park, Thomas A.
Edison, are to have their initial exhibition in Pittsburgh in the Grand's vaudeville show on next Monday afternoon, March 10, and thereafter each afternoon and evening for one week. That the Grand's capacity will be tested as it has never been tested before is a conclusion which one may arrive at without the aid of the gift of prophecy. The pictures are a tremendous success. New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St.
Louis and Cleveland, the only cities in which they have been exhibited thus far acclaim them the realization of the country's dream. The selection of subjects is wisely designed not only to entertain but to show the scope and possibilities of this nearest miracle that has come from the worker. In the beginning, one sees and hears upon the canvass the perfect illustration of a well-groomed lecturer, explaining with gestures, in well chosen words and keenly intellectual facial expression the technical methods by which Mr. Edison arrived at his invention. The Edison Minstrels, a company of comedians in the conventional "first part" of a regulation minstrel show, will entertain with songs, dances and jokes. Indeed, the entire program is calculated to familiarize you and me with exactly what Mr. Edison has accomplished and at the same time divert us as thoroughly as any troupe of players that ever trod the boards.

It will supplement, of course a vanderbilt program in the Grand's customary refinement and artistry. Stella Mayhew and Billie Taylor are among the exceptionally interesting players who will come to cheer us up.
Miss Mayhew is the choicest comedienne on the American stage, and she and Mr. Taylor will present the exact specialties in which they scored an emphatic hit in last season's New York Winter Garden production, where they remained for more than an entire year.

The wonder horse, Don Fulano, is to make his local debut and give an exhibition showing that the equine has a mind of his own and an intellect almost as keen as man's. Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, who are among vaudeville's favorite exam-plars, will enact their new version of
"At the News Stand." You will laugh until your sides ache over the fun of the farce, "Fixing the Furnace," in which George Rolland and Company are to appear.

The Boris Fridkin Troupe of Russian Singers and whirlwind dancers will make their first appearance here by permission of his Imperial Majesty, the Czar. These are but a few of the numerous acts selected at random from Mr. Davis' extraordinary bill, but they serve to show that his program during talking motion picture week will accord in every respect with his well established reputation for high class, refined entertainment.
